Unit Title:	Learning from the Past and Fighting for the Future: Advocating for Change
Unit Summary:	Part 1: Innovations and the Voices that Shaped Our World For each civilization that students learn about throughout the school year, they will reflect on the innovations that those civilizations brought to society and the people of influence and power based on their social and political structure. This will be in the form of 30 minute mini lessons that students complete at the end of each unit throughout the year or at the end of the year as a review of the year's content. Part 2: Advocating for Change At the end of the year, students will learn about youth involvement in civic participation and advocacy. They will understand that they possess a unique perspective and set of skills that allows them to effectively bring about change within their communities. Students will then work collaboratively within groups and then as a class to create a podcast around a social problem within the built environment: transportation, affordable housing, or parks and open spaces. In groups, students will be responsible for scripting, performing, and recording a 3-minute podcast segment. Each groups' podcast segment will be recorded "live" by the Civic Design Center and combined into a class podcast that serves as an advocacy tool for educating the public on the class's social problem. Finally, students will reflect on their learning by writing a letter or email to an elected official (i.e., council member) advocating for change.
Resources:	Resources for each lesson can be found in the corresponding daily lesson plans. This unit is plan is aligned with the MNPS scope and sequence, which can be accessed at ci.mnps.org/resources .

	Youth Activism Stations Handout SS Day 11 Exit Ticket- Compare/ Contrast Youth-Led Movements	Civic Involvement &amp; Engagement Students will engage in a stations activity where they explore different youth-led movements throughout history and in the present. Students will then compare and contrast two of the youth-led movements, looking for similarities and differences.	Day 11 I can explain various youth led-movements throughout history. I can explain the similarities and differences between various youth-led movements. I can explain ways in which youth can be, and are currently engaged in activism today.
	Group Problem Statement SS Day 12 Exit Ticket	Defining the Social Issue Students will read about [built environment factor] and work on creating a problem statement using the 5 W's. Students will collaborate in small groups to create a succinct problem statement about the [built environment factor] and brainstorm actions to address the problem.	Day 12 I can define the problem related to [built environment factor].
	Podcast Exit Ticket	Podcast Students will begin engaging with a podcast on their built environment factor of choice. Podcasts were created by the Nashville Youth Design Team and align with the podcast segments that students will create as their final project. Through this, they will gain a deeper understanding of the current state of their built environment factor in Nashville. A listening guide, frequent checks for comprehension and TDQs for emerging and advanced students will make this lesson accessible for all students.	Day 13 I can listen to, analyze, and comprehend a podcast. I can describe the current state of [built environment factor] in Nashville.
	Class list of actions to the social problem SS Day 14 Exit Ticket	Identifying Actions Students will then work individually and as a class to create a comprehensive list of actions to address the social problem.	Day 14 I can provide tangible actions to address [social issue].

MNPS Unit Design Template

		Students will work in groups and as a class to create a comprehensive list of actions to address the chosen social problem.
	Work Day 1 SEL Competencies & Goals Exit Ticket	Final Project Day 1 Research Guide Students will begin working on their segment of the final product. Goals for this day include creating group cohesion, choosing roles, planning, and conducting research. Strategic grouping, student choice, teacher scaffolding, and differentiated group expectations will make this lesson accessible to all learners.	Day 15 I can create a podcast to educate others about [social problem] and advocate for change.
	Work Day 2 SEL Competencies & Goals Exit Ticket	Final Project Day 2 Planning Guide Students will leverage the research collected during the previous day to design and generate one section of a class podcast. Strategic grouping, student choice, teacher scaffolding, and differentiated group expectations will make this lesson accessible to all learners.	Day 16 I can create a podcast to educate others about [social problem] and advocate for change.
	Self & Group Assessment Rubric	Presentation Rubrics (Self, Group, Peer, &amp; Teacher) Each group will present their 5-minute podcast segment during the “live taping,” and students will use a range of presentation rubrics for self and peer-assessment. Augmented rubrics with differentiated expectations will make this lesson accessible to all learners.	Day 17 I can work with my group to present a podcast segment that is well-researched, interesting, and addresses [social problem].
	Letter to elected official  Post-survey	Reflection and Post-Survey To reflect on their learning students will: -Write a letter to their elected official (i.e., council member) describing the [built environment factor] and [social problem] and how the student would like to see the social problem addressed. -A post-survey to reflect on their learning during the unit.	Day 18 I can synthesize and reflect upon my learning over the course of the unit, using evidence from multiple forms of text to support my claims.  I can reflect on how this unit has impacted me and my community by completing a post-survey.

Reflection

Daily/Regular Reflection	Academic Concepts and Skills: Exit tickets and reflective writing activities will act as formative assessments of students' progress in understanding and addressing the built environment and social issues in Nashville. They will assess skill-acquisition, content comprehension, and project progression.
Summative Reflection	Academic Concepts and Skills Students will evaluate themselves and their peers with project, presentation, and collaboration rubrics that are aligned to assess acquisition of specific skills necessary for mastery of the unit. Additionally, components of each rubric offer space for students to reflect on SEL competencies developed through the completion of the project. Students will also complete an assignment on the last day that asks them to write a letter to an elected official (i.e., council member) describing the class's built environment factor and related social problem, and actions for how the student would like to see the social problem addressed. In addition to providing students with space to reflect on their learning throughout the unit, it also teaches students how to engage with elected officials and advocate for solutions to social problems.
